

Waves of Change

INFORMATION ABOUT THE PROJECT

Hi! We are Camilla (anthropologist), Daniela (climate scientist) and Sophie (animator).

We would love for you to be involved in our research project, “Waves of Change”, that will take place in Newquay, with Young People Cornwall.

This project wants to explore the impact of climate change on coastal environments in Cornwall from the perspective of local young people. We would like to work with you to find out: what are your thoughts on climate change? And what do you know about it? How do you think climate change will affect your future? What do you think you can do about it?

We’d like to have a chat about all of this, and then, Sophie will teach you how to make animated films. We will show you how to write a story for a film, how to illustrate and storyboard it, and how to dub and animate using stop-motion.

We will make some illustrations and animations together and then we will show them to people and local authorities in Cornwall, so that you can let them know what your thoughts on climate change are and what you think they can do to help you build a better future for the planet.

We will also put the illustrations and animations online, on the University of Bristol’s website and on social media (Twitter and Instagram), and we will send them to journalists, so that everybody can learn about your views and experiences. This can be done anonymously, if you prefer, and your identity will not be disclosed.

Our conversations will be audio recorded, so that we can use some of the things you will say as voiceover in the animations – but only if you want to! If you want, your first name will be included in the credits. If not, you will remain anonymous.

This project is voluntary, which means that you don’t have to take part if you don’t want to – it’s your choice. You can also choose whether you would like your images and some sound bites from your interviews to be disseminated or not on social media, and if you want your name to appear or not in the credits of the film we will produce. You can choose these options in the dissemination form attached with this document.

If you do want to take part, then welcome to the project 😊 please fill in the consent and dissemination form attached.
